

Personal Letter for Ictech

Attila Nagy

February 15, 2020

I got a tip, from a former colleague of mine from Volvo Cars who is currently working for Zenuity, that if I am planning to work for Zenuity as a consult, I should contact Ictech.

The end of last year I finished at my previous job and decided to try myself out as a self-employed freelancer and currently looking for my first assignment. I used to work with Active-Safety at Volvo Cars in the Autonomous Drive project and since I already have some friends from old times working there, it feels like a good start. My hope is that Ictech can help me with finding my first assignment at Zenuity.

Furthermore, in case you wonder whom you should contact to gain some information about my former activities at Volvo Cars, I would recommend you the following Zenuity employees and my ex-colleagues:

- Joakim Lin-Sörstedt, my former manager,
- Daniel Svensson, the senior algorithm designer from my former team,
- Niklas Carlson, a fellow developer.

Best regards,
Attila Nagy
